Simplicity: The Power of One

The line between voice and data communications is fading. If one network will do the work of two, ADTRAN® asks, why have two?

The new NetVanta® 7100 combines all voice, data, and Internet functionality into one box. It's not just a consolidation of hardware—it's much more. It's a wholesale change that simplifies and re-invents communications.

There is value in keeping it simple. Simpler solutions are easier to design, implement, and manage. Simplicity streamlines business, improves productivity, lowers communications costs, and enables you to stay focused on your business.

ADTRAN has taken the vision of keeping it simple to new levels of performance. In fact, the NetVanta 7100 has so much functionality included that we call it the ADTRAN Office in a Box.

Voice—phone, voicemail, and auto attendant for up to 100 stations

Data—routing, switching, and network connectivity

Internet—high-speed, reliable connection to the Internet

Security—encryption for privacy and firewall protection against attacks

Simply put, it's everything you need for your business voice and data communications—all in one box.

Experience the ADTRAN power of one.
